

I Claim:

1. A system for programming an audio file into a device capable of making person to person telephone calls comprising:

an electronic means for locating the audio file, the audio file being external to the device and the electronic locating means; and means for enabling a user of the device to program at least a portion of the audio file into the device wherein the audio file is used as an indicia of an incoming communication.